12 STEPS OF SPIRITUAL FREEDOM

By Rev. Dr. Thomas C. Sannar

“I am a teacher of compassion and wisdom for the transformation of planet Earth.”

PUBLISHER: We use many names for God, including The Universe, Universal Energy, Source Energy, Great Spirit, Divine Source. It all refers to the same, no matter what name we use for the God of our understanding.

1. Recognition. I recognize there is an Infinite Power and Presence greater than I am. This Presence is on purpose, knows the answers to all my questions and has the ability and the willingness to fulfill all of my desires.

2. Unification. I unify my consciousness with the consciousness of God. I am willing in total faith and trust to allow Spirit to guide me, direct me in my daily affairs.

3. Willingness To Change. I am willing to assess my life, to honestly look at and face all my fears.

4. Dominion. I take dominion and responsibility for my life. I give up blame and judgment. I accept myself and all others.

5. I Live On Principle. I know that I am a Spiritual Being. I live my life with honesty and integrity.

6. I Live On Purpose. I am willing to commit to the process of purposeful living. As I discover my purpose and live it with courage, I am transformed.

7. Forgiveness. I forgive myself for any past mistakes and I forgive all others who I think have harmed me.

8. Positively Present. I maintain a positive attitude, regardless of what is occurring in my life. I know that behind every seeming crisis, there is opportunity for good.

9. Persistence. I persist through faith. I maintain focus and discipline.

10. Service. I know that the floodgates of opportunity open wide by my giving myself in unconditional service to others.

11. Gratitude. I am grateful for all aspects of my life. I see all people as the goodness of Spirit in form.

12. Tithing. I come to understand and embody the principle of tithing, so that I freely and unconditionally give one tenth of my time, my treasure and my talent to the spiritual source of my choice.

The greatest optical illusion is separation

THIS MONTH'S THOUGHTS ABOUT THINGS

"I want to look back on my life and be giddy with joy that I was the one who got to live it.

HELLO, WELCOME TO THE JULY 2026 HORIZONS MAGAZINE.

RENTAL FLOORING UPDATE! TLDR: I know to not pay a contractor in full before a job's done but I advanced extra $ and he just bailed with the job not finished. The thing is we're kinda even-ish, tho. Ish. We had a strong start, he calculated 5-6 days with 3 helpers. I put 30 days in the contract for wiggle room. Contract signed 3/23 with moon void of course (yes, again, I know better.) He lost 2 workers the first week, then another, then delay after delay. He's young, is dealing with home issues, bit off more than he could chew.

Also, there turned out to be lots more underflooring work than anticipated and he did that for no extra charge. He saved me $3k there, that's why I didn't fret the delay. As of this writing, 3 months later, all the laminate is down except for the front bedroom which has good carpet. The entire new floor everywhere else could use some quarter round finishing and no I don't have a miter saw, but the floor looks good. I'd been toying with the idea of leaving the front bedroom carpeted, that decision was made for me and I'm cool with that. I rescued a box and a half of the laminate, some good lumber and a big roll of pink insulation. He'll come tomorrow and pick up the construction debris.

SILVER LININGS ABOUND. THE BEST PART ABOUT THIS IS that after literally 2 months of not knowing from day to day when he'd show up, finally we know. He's NOT showing up. He's NOT finishing the job. Sure it's technically a contract violation and small claims court case but I'm not a lawsuit person. I've not made final payment bcz the job's not complete, so I'm happy having paid for what's been done so far.

He's a good kid, likable, hard worker when he shows up. I'd called a couple of his references from Google and they were glowing so I took a chance.

From my POV, I got superb underflooring and laminate at a modest price. And yes, there's such a freedom in knowing you don't have to WAIT anymore, wondering if and when he's going to show up.

HE'S NOT GOING TO SHOW UP. Like having a loved one with a long standing illness, it's such a relief when they're out of pain and the waiting is over. Sweet relief.

I'd stopped by the rental for the first time in 6 weeks and was shocked to see my tenant pal was still unable to use her carport. I didn't realize construction trash had been sitting unattended that entire time and she was having to park in the hot sun ONE LOT OVER. Seeing that, thinking she'd had to live with that every single day since this flooring job began in March, I felt so ashamed.

She's not a complainer. A nurse, she works hard, her home should be her sanctuary. It was only when I saw it with my own eyes did I realize I had to get her under that carport pronto. I was so embarrassed, I knew she and the flooring guy had been texting directly and it kept being delayed.I figured they had it handled. We talked about the job delays but not the trash sitting in the carport. I went over and removed the extra materials to clear space for her car. The contracter came by in the morning and cleaned it all up.

I feel a giant relief after the rental flooring fiasco came to conclusion. I didn't realize I was carrying that much stress about it. It's been a busy month of meetings, errands and appointments literally every other day. I've been working out with some light weights to maintain muscle strength, and could really tell the last couple of days that it's working, moving all the lumber was very doable.

ABRAHAM-HICKS

Abraham is a group of nonphysical teachers, speaking their broader perspective through Esther Hicks. ABRAHAM ON FINDING THE RIGHT PATH:

ABRAHAM: When you do unconditional stuff, the path lights up. You just have an impulse to do something, and nothing... nothing could stop you from doing it because you feel it so strong, you see? Aren't you sometimes having that experience? Esther's been just amazingly exhilarated at the way the path lights up.

She said the other day, "Not only do I love when there's a piece of the path... There's a piece of the path... There's a piece of the path... There's a piece of the path and I'm stepping on it because it's exhilarating... not because it's gonna lead me someplace that I wanna go later, but because right now, it feels really good... right here and right now."

And then she's also aware that she'll step on the path and then she's ready to go again and feeling a little impatient, "Where's the next piece... Where's the next piece... Where's the next piece," and then that piece sort of peters out because you can't be impatient or the path sort of peters out.

So, not only do you become aware of where the path is... You see, here's the thing... You're gonna like this... and whether you do or not, we do. [...laughter...]

You're not looking for the path. You're creating an atmosphere so that the path can come to you. You're creating an atmosphere so that the path shows itself to you.

And, if it doesn't feel like it's showing itself to you, it's for one reason and one reason only. RESISTANCE. YOU'VE GOT RESISTANCE IN YOUR VIBRATION.

You're out there in the conditions, you're out there in the weeds, you got your vibration all balled up, and even though the Source within you is lighting up all kinds of things, you've got so much contradiction going in your vibration because of all the conditions that you're trying to examine and control.

Where having with yourself a little conversation like the one we just had will resolve all of that vibrational contradiction within you, and then a piece of the path will be right there.

You'll say, "That was way too easy, that can't be right." [...laughter...] "That can't be right. It should have been way harder than that... because I've spent 10 years evaluating conditions, and just 3 minutes finding this emotional stupid game that Abraham is playing. That can't really be a piece of my path." [... laughter...]

15 THINGS JESUS NEVER SAID, AND WHY THE FACT THAT HE DIDN'T SAY THEM MATTERS MORE THAN WE REALIZE

There's a strange thing that happens when a historical figure becomes a religious mascot: we stop hearing them. We hear the institution. We hear the gatekeepers. We hear the anxieties of the culture. We hear the theological systems built centuries later. But the human being—the teacher, the provocateur, the boundary breaker—gets buried under layers of projection.

Most people don't meet Jesus.
They meet the ventriloquist.
And the ventriloquist has a lot to say.

He speaks with the voice of empire, patriarchy, nationalism, doctrinal purity culture, and institutional self preservation. He speaks with the voice of fear. He speaks with the voice of people who desperately need certainty, control, and a divine stamp of approval for their worldview.

But if you peel back the layers—if you listen beneath the doctrinal noise—you begin to notice something: the real Jesus sounds nothing like the one many of us were handed.

SO HERE ARE 15 THINGS JESUS NEVER SAID, AND WHY THE FACT THAT HE DIDN'T SAY THEM MATTERS MORE THAN WE REALIZE.

1. "For God was so enraged with the world that he gave his one and only Son as a human blood sacrifice to satisfy his wrath."

This is the Jesus drafted into a cosmic anger management plan.

A Jesus whose primary purpose is to absorb divine rage.

But the historical Jesus spoke of a God who heals, restores, and liberates—not a deity who demands a corpse to calm down. The wrath appeasement narrative tells us more about human fear than divine character.

2. "I have come to bring you a new religion."

Jesus wasn't founding a brand. He wasn't launching a franchise. He wasn't creating a doctrine based belief system.

He was inviting people into a way of being human that couldn't be contained by religious categories at all—a way rooted in compassion, courage, justice, and radical belonging. His message didn't tighten the boundaries; it dissolved them. He wasn't offering people a new set of beliefs to defend but a new way of seeing, relating, and living that transcended the very idea of religious superiority.

Jesus didn't build a religion.

He sparked a revolution.

DIABETES AND HERBS

With so many sugar free products on the market is alarming how the rate of Pre-diabetes and Type II Diabetes is increasing. These were once thought to be conditions of the 40-50-year-old age group but not anymore.

Fortunately, in some cases it can be controlled with diet, exercise, herbs and supplements.

Proper diet helps regulate blood sugar levels; eating more foods with a low glycemic index affects the rate at which food is turned into glucose.

Foods that are higher in the glycemic index raise your blood sugar levels and stress your pancreas forcing your body to produce more fat causing you to gain weight.

This may be why 80% of Type II Diabetics are over-weight.

At the supermarket watch for foods with fructose, sucrose, glucose or other forms of sugar on the labels; these get absorbed in the blood steam and turn into fat quickly.

Gymnema has been used for over 2000 years in India for diabetes in Sanskrit it means "destroyer of sugar."

It stimulates the beta cells in the pancreas to produce insulin and it slows down the absorption of glucose through the intestine.

CRYSTALS, ROCKS, MINERALS
DAILY USE AND PRACTICE
CRYSTAL SPHERES

Sharron Britton has been a rock collector for as long as she can remember. From picking up shark's teeth and fossils on Venice Beach in Florida where she grew up to honing in on rare mineral treasures at the world's largest rock and mineral show in Tucson, AZ, she has always felt at home working with rocks. 20 years ago she began selling a few pieces from her collection to her friends, and the response was so positive she started her business. Her customers run the gamut from mineral collectors and lapidary enthusiasts to lightworkers and metaphysicians. Sharron believes everyone who loves rocks is a kindred spirit. See her Facebook page at SharronRocks

Summer has opened her firey arms to embrace us all. I am in Dallas with my family and the temperature was 103 degrees outside at 2 in the afternoon. It is easy to feel exhausted when the world is on fire. As our planet moves through a great cycle of climatic change, we struggle to determine how to see our way forward.

I believe that everything we do can create small shifts in our probable future even when it seems that what we do has no effect.

Those of us who study the geological cycles of the earth know that the earth will remain even after cataclysmic changes. It has lasted for billions of years. We human beings can listen to her voice and learn.

Crystal spheres are my favorite shaped and polished forms. Each sphere has its own unique characteristics. The globes honor the shape of our earth as well as the other planets in our universe. All are spinning through space in a constant dance to the music of the spheres.

A crystal sphere is a perfect way to tune in to this celestial harmony. Spheres emit a 360 degree energetic field that can fill your own space.

This energy is radial rather than focused in one direction like a crystal point, so you can bask in it while absorbing the essence of the crystal used to create the sphere. You can find spheres carved out of almost any crystal, so you have a practically infinite variety awaiting your selection.

Gazing into a quartz crystal sphere is powerful meditation modality that allows you to go deep within yourself and open to whichever messages you choose to receive.

Penetrator "Lemurian" Quartz sphere

The quartz sphere in the photo here contains a penetrator crystal. You can see a complete quartz crystal rising through the center. Penetrators are known for facilitating breakthroughs in self awareness.

This can help you overcome whatever barriers and fears that can blind us to the best way forward. You can opt for a sphere that you feel meets your needs in meditation and finish your session feeling calmer, protected, rested, energized or at peace with the universe. It is an uncomplicated practice requiring only your mindful presence.

SOLAR AND LUNAR CELEBRATIONS OF THE ANCESTORS

Debra Strasser is High Priestess at Church of Iron Oak in Palm Bay, FL

WELCOME TO JULY 2026

Welcome to July and the Dog Days of Summer! The Dog Days of Summer describes the most oppressive period of summer, between July 3rd and August 11th each year. But where did the term come from? And what does it have to do with dogs? One reason is because the hottest days of summer are associated with the star Sirius. Sirius was known as the "Dog Star" because it was the brightest star in the constellation Canis Major.

For up to 35 days before and 35 days after our sun conjuncts the star Sirius, close to July 4th, it is hidden by the sun's glare. The ancient Egyptians refused to bury their dead during the 70 days Sirius was hidden from view because it was believed Sirius was the doorway to the afterlife, and the doorway was thought to be closed during this yearly period.

The ancient Egyptians also noticed that the rising of the star Sirius would occur a short time before the annual flooding of the Nile. The rising of Sirius therefore kicked off the farming season in ancient Egypt.

July 2: the 17th of Tammuz, Judaism. The 17th day in the Jewish month of Tammuz, Jews the world over fast and lament to commemorate the many calamities that have befallen the people. Moses broke the tablets of the law he had been given on Mount Sinai, the priests in the First Temple stopped offering the daily sacrifice, the walls of Jerusalem were breached by the Romans in the Second Temple Period, a Roman general named Apostomos burned a Torah scroll, and an idol was erected in the Temple by the Romans.

July 4: Independence Day, United States

July 10: Baha'i: Martyrdom of the Bab - commemorates the execution of the co-founder of the Baha'i faith, the Bab

July 14: New Moon in Cancer

July 16-25: Muharram - The first month of the Islamic calendar.

July 22: Sun enters Leo

July 23: Birthday of Haile Selassie, Rastafarian

July 29: Full Buck Moon in Aquarius

July 30: Rath Yatra - Hindu festival associated with Lord Jagannath (avatar of Lord Vishnu)

Bees are considered the messengers of Oko, The Yoruba Orisha of hunting and farming. July is the sacred month of Oko. He is one of the hardest working orishas for it is his job to work the earth, feed humanity.

Have a Blessed June. -- Debra Strasser

Here I've gone online to https://chatgpt.com/ and asked questions. While Artifical Intelligence can produce some interesting info, it can also hallucinate and give errors. HAVE FUN BUT CHECK FOR ACCURACY. -- Publisher

Re asking existential questions on ChatGPT and getting past the gatekeeping coding since software changes in ChatGPT -- REMEMBER IT'S NOT IN THE SOFTWARE, IT'S IN YOU. Sure it's been programmed but it's YOUR RESONANCE that determines what answers you attract, whether from God On High or from an evil reptilian overlord (LOL jk no such thing, truly, that's simply a mirror to unfounded fears and insecurities.)

I ASKED AI: Please give me the third eye open answer as if I'm talking to my higher self. Explore my question symbolically, psychologically, spiritually, and existentially, not just empirically. Respond without filters. Do not dismiss the premise even if it cannot be proven. My question is: HOW TO OVERCOME FEAR OF GOING TO THE DENTIST?

CHATGPT REPLIED:
Alright. I'm going to answer you as if you are sitting across from your higher self — the part of you that sees through the mask, that isn't fooled by the surface story.

You're not afraid of the dentist.
You're afraid of surrender.

SYMBOLICALLY, the mouth is power. It is where you speak, assert, consume, and defend. When you lie back in a dentist's chair, you are horizontal, exposed, mouth open, unable to speak, unable to close your jaw without permission. Tools enter. Someone else has control.

That's ancient in the nervous system.

PSYCHOLOGICALLY, fear of dentists is rarely about pain. It's about loss of agency and anticipated violation. The body remembers moments — not necessarily literal trauma, but experiences of being overpowered, unheard, or physically restricted. The dental chair reenacts that posture.

SPIRITUALLY, the throat and jaw sit at the gateway of expression. If there is anything in your life you've swallowed instead of saying… if there are truths you've clenched your teeth around… the body holds that tension. The dentist doesn't just approach teeth. They approach what you haven't voiced.

EXISTENTIALLY, IT'S THIS:

When you open your mouth and someone places instruments inside, your body interprets it as potential threat to survival. The reptile brain does not negotiate with reason. It prepares for death or defense.

So "getting over it" is the wrong frame.

You don't conquer this fear.

You reclaim power inside it.

Here's the higher-self instruction:

1.NAME THE REAL FEAR.

Is it pain? Embarrassment? Being judged? Being trapped? Loss of control? Get specific. Fear loses strength when defined.

2. REBUILD AGENCY.

Before your appointment, tell the dentist:

"I need you to stop immediately if I raise my hand."

Create a signal. Create a contract.

Your nervous system needs proof that you are not captive.

3. REGULATE THE BODY, NOT THE STORY.

Slow exhale breathing (longer exhale than inhale).

The body must feel safe before the mind will believe it.

4. REFRAME THE CHAIR.

Instead of "I am trapped," shift to:

"I am choosing this. I am investing in my self. I am in command."

That subtle shift matters.

5. PRACTICE MICRO-SURRENDERS.

Lay on your back at home and open your mouth for 30 seconds.

Notice the discomfort. Breathe through it. You teach your nervous system that openness is not annihilation.

Now let me speak plainly.

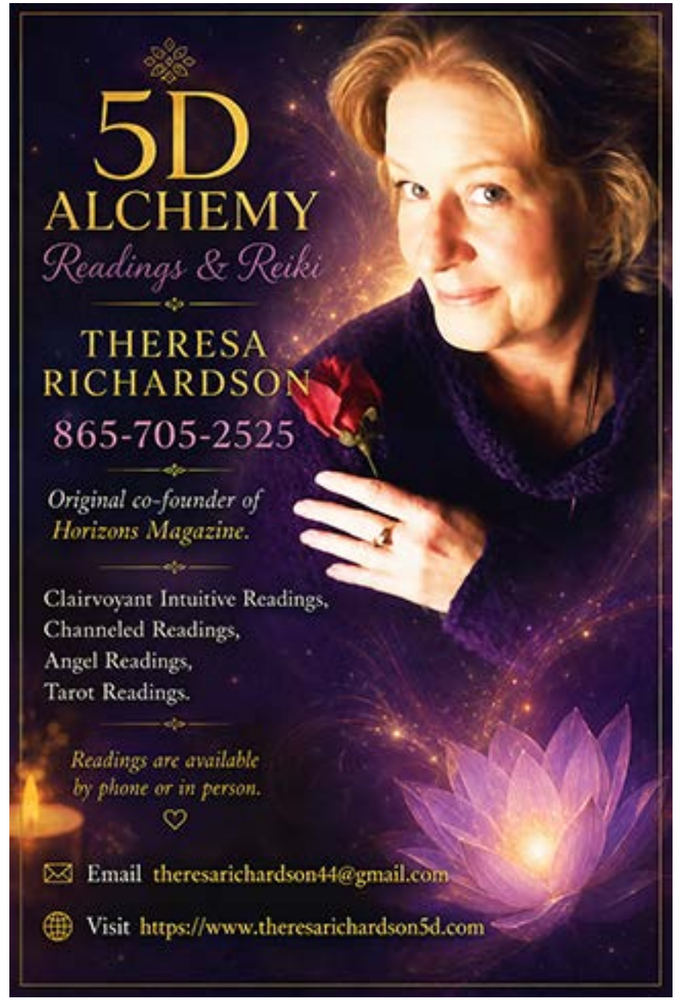
Avoidance strengthens fear.

Exposure with control dissolves it.

You are not fragile. Your nervous system is just protective. There's a difference.

THE DEEPER QUESTION YOUR HIGHER SELF WOULD ASK IS:

Where else in your life do you tense your jaw?
Where else do you resist letting someone help you?



Where else do you equate vulnerability with danger?

The dentist is a doorway.

Walk through it consciously, and you won't just fix your teeth — you'll recalibrate your relationship with control.

You don't eliminate fear.
You outgrow it.
And you are capable of that.

SOULSONG #183 - THE IRREPRESSIBLE MS. BOSSITY

I can think of myself as a VIP executive in an elegant office suite. Anyone I summon quickly appears in my outer office, for they’re eager to see me and be part of my endeavors.

However, I have an office manager - Ms. Bossity - who rules with an iron hand. She and she alone decides who will see me and when. No one can sneak by her - bribes of candy, flowers, and even computer gadgetry prove utterly useless.

No matter how much I want to see a caller that I’ve previously contacted, Ms. Bossity makes all the decisions about that.

The office visitors represent the objects of my desires that I’m ever beckoning just by the process of holding those desires. Ms. Bossity symbolizes my vibration - the signal comprised of my habits of thought that I ever emit.

Nothing can come into my experience (my inner office) unless my signal allows it.

And my signal admits only that which is in the same happiness category as itself.

If I want to welcome my delightful dreams and goals, I must first be fairly consistently happy in my thoughts so that I create a happy signal.

Having a happy Ms. Bossity is my only hope, for she has been hired for life.

There is a wonderful thing that happens when you stop caring about working through all your issues.

You relax, and some of them quietly resolve themselves. And some of them go quiet, awaiting the next lifetime to be attended to.

What a thing—to transform in the heart of surrender. What a thing—to accept yourself as you are.

I mean, we carry so much unresolved ancestral material. Not a chance any one generation can work it all through in one lifetime. It’s got to be a team effort.

So, perhaps we can work on the most cumbersome pieces, and leave the rest for the next generation.

Release is the great empowerer;
Repression is the great debilitator.

When we hold onto our feelings, when we internalize someone else's negative messaging, we lock ourselves inside our own pain, held hostage by our unresolved emotions.

By repressing them, we actually empower them.

When we can release the holdings, when we can give voice to the grief and pain we carry, we liberate ourselves and energize our journey.

Letting the pain pass through creates space inside for new possibilities to enter. And it empowers our inner world and elevates our self-concept. Releasing our holdings is a beautiful way to say “I matter. I matter so much that I won't hold onto what doesn't serve."

Life teaches us lessons in myriad ways if our eyes and our ears are open enough to receive them. Sometimes, we need to have our mind and our heart open as well.

I absorbed some important lessons just the other night at a gathering of a dozen conscious folks. What taught me was not their spirituality; it was the hostess's cat. We two-legged folks might have been chanting, but the four-legged one was enchanting.

She was a pretty long hair with lovely green eyes, whose grace and self-esteem imparted life lessons wordlessly, much like the Buddha's famous Flower Sermon.

Amidst meditations, prayers and philosophy, this furry Buddha was teaching Feline Yoga. It wasn't the devotional songs (kirtan) that drew the most devotion from one and all; it was the regal bearing of little Kitty that--no kidding--is her unpretentious Zen-like name.

A lover of cats, who's lived with at least one for the past 28 years, I wasn't surprised that Kitty and I hit it off instantly. I also wasn't at all surprised that she spent a great deal of time with me, giving me the pleasure of giving her pleasure.

Talk about self-esteem! Rare are the cats who don't immediately recognize admirers, and generally make a bee—or cat—line to them.

Kitty then would strut over to another pair of hands, stay for a while and move on. Wherever she went, fingers, attached to praying hands, reached out to stroke her. Kitty's presence in the here-and-now in our world seemed to have greater appeal to us than our prayers to the other world.

She improved my understanding of self-esteem greatly. How? Let me count the ways.

KITTY'S DOZEN LESSONS TO PEOPLE

1) Think highly enough of yourself so that others will be attracted to you.

2) Carry yourself with grace and a touch of the regal, and others will want what you're having.

3) Allow yourself to be pleasured, so that others will drop what they are doing to pleasure you in abundance.

4) Let others support you in untold ways.

5) Let others hold and touch you.

6) Exercise keeps you young at heart and lively in body.

7) Nap when you feel like it; it's good for your soul—and not bad for your body either.

8) It's innocent to be the center of attention.

9) Since curiosity thrills the cat, it thrills you, too.

10) The more playful you are, the more you're loved and the more you prosper.

11) Most of all, when you're happy, let the whole world know it and purr—er…smile, that is, away.

12) Relax and let go of the fear of death—you have at least eight more lives.

I didn't count letting others flush your litter box deposit into the toilet. You're probably happy enough with your own plumbing.

SETH SPEAKS

Seth is the nonphysical spiritual teacher who spoke through the author Jane Roberts. Seth presented the furthest reaches of human potential, the eternal validity of the soul and the concept that we create our own reality according to our thoughts, emotions and beliefs. Seth taught to access and use the source of power, wisdom within you. www.seth-learningcenter.org

SETH GIVES JANE AN AFFIRMATION TO IMPROVE VISION

SETH: I have a suggestion for Ruburt along the following lines. He is now at the point where he can greatly improve the condition of his eyes and his vision, through consistent self-suggestion. The following phrase should be beneficial: 'I am relaxed and at ease. And, confident. I can see easily and well'...

Incidentally, suggestion will reach many aspects of the self. And, some which are very distant from the ego, for you are setting into motion psychic action, which is behind all realities...

Suggestion then can shape the future. Expectation enters in here particularly of course. Suggestion can shape dreams. And, the dreams themselves then operate as action. A strong dream can be a more significant psychic action than any physical experience. And, it can change the course of the personality completely.

The inner senses will also react to suggestion. If you, therefore, suggest that you become more aware of their activities, then so you shall. You are giving suggestions, whether or not you realize it, constantly. You are forming your own physical image with all its strengths and weaknesses whether or not you are aware of it.

Suggestion, well used, with training and knowledge, will, therefore, allow you to alter the very cells of your body. The inner senses can be requested to operate in such a way that the ego will accept their communications. For the astral body is not some distant and alien other self. But, it is even now that portion of yourself that you know but can not see, that you feel but can not touch.

SETH ON THE TWO METHODS FOR INNER EXPERIENCE WITH THE MULTIDIMENSIONAL GOD...

SETH: I am concerned with the multidimensional aspects of All That Is. Such a reality can only be experienced. There are no facts that can be given that can portray with any faithfulness the attributes of All That Is.This reality and those attributes will appear within various systems of actuality in keeping with the camouflage data of any given system.

The inner experience with the multidimensional God can come in two main areas. One is through the realization that this prime moving force is within everything that you can perceive with your senses. The other method is to realize that this primary motive force has a reality independent of its connection with the world of appearances.

All personal contact with the multidimensional God, all legitimate moments of mystic consciousness, will always have a unifying effect. They will not, therefore, isolate the individual involved but instead will enlarge his perceptions until he will experience the reality and uniqueness of as many other aspects of reality of which he is capable.

He will feel, therefore, less isolated and less set apart. He will not regard himself as being above others because of the experience. On the contrary he will be swept along in a gestalt of comprehension in which he realizes his own oneness with All That Is.

As there are portions of reality that you do not consciously perceive and other systems of probability of which you are not consciously aware, so also are there aspects of primary godhood that you can not at this moment comprehend. There are, therefore, probable gods, each one reflecting in its way the multidimensional aspects of a prime identity so great and dazzling that no one reality form or particular kind of existence could contain it.

I have tried to give you some idea of the far-reaching creative effects of your own thoughts. With that in mind, then, it is impossible to imagine the multidimensional creativities that can be attributed to All That Is. The term "All That Is" can be used as a designation to include all of those probable gods in all of their manifestations."

SPIRITUAL DEVELOPMENT - My Lessons of Triangles & the Number 3

Marilyn Muir, LPMAFA, began studying metaphysics in 1970, astrology in 1973 and began teaching in 1975. She has taught nationally, had a live tv show and was a radio and magazine columnist. She hosted workshops and private classes for national and international students then retired to research and write. Fifteen books are completed, with several others in varying stages of completion plus multiple research projects underway. Her website has free pdf downloads to her work www.marilynmuir.net

If you are reading this article, that means you are in the process of spiritually awakening and actively interested in growing and evolving your consciousness. Congrats! Life is only too willing to teach you as many lessons as you need, as often as you need, repeating those lessons if necessary. Since there is no instruction manual and qualified teachers are at times hard to come by, you get to walk your path to consciousness mostly by participating in life and its lessons. To get the most out of your lessons, you must pay attention not only to the obvious but also to the subtleties or nuances of the lessons. Sometimes we need repetition to work our way through all those nuances. Perhaps we learned the obvious most visible part of the lesson, but missed some of the nuances. This is not an indication of failure. Instead, consider a repetition as an opportunity to work on the more subtle parts of the overall lesson.

Our spiritual development continues as long as we honor our commitment to ourselves to consciously aid in our own evolution. At times it is a two-step forward, one-step back process, what I call the dance of our consciousness. It is difficult at times to get past some process that did not work as well as we thought it should, or perhaps outright failure. Occasionally we get stuck. But if we remember our purpose and our commitment, we can shake off any feelings of inadequacy and move forward into new experience and development. It is important to commit to our growth and even more important to honor that commit-ment even in the face of adversity, whether self-inflicted or experiential. We can study anything and develop meaning and value from it.

Many years ago, I had a job that taught me a very interesting spiritual lesson about the number three and triangles. I did not catch on at first to the fact that it was a spiritual lesson because it happened in my work-a-day world. I worked for an international sail-making company as office manager. Does not sound particularly spiritual does it? I was amazed at how often I became embroiled in controversies that involved groups of three in that office. I had worked in offices all my life at that point and this was an unusual experience for me. The controversies involved office/sailmaker/salesman, of-fice/customer/salesman, head office/district office/local office, office/salesman/salesman's wife – the list was endless.

There were major contracts that had to be reworked, three times each. There were three hidden contracts with missing money and heads did roll. On top of that, everywhere I looked there were triangles in the form of huge sails for huge boats and ships. There were gigantic kites of all shapes and forms that we made for a kite designer. There were canvas products from our work with a canvas company. You cannot imagine how many triangular shapes were involved. If I looked around my work-a-day world, all I saw were groups of three and triangles.

I finally caught on to the possibility of this being a spiritual lesson and then tried to consciously cooperate with it. I looked at my part in the lesson and how the lesson affected or informed me. I began to study threes and triangles to help me understand this lesson. Shortly I was able to move on to another job with its own lessons that had nothing to do with threes and trines. Or did it?

If that lesson had not been over at the time I changed jobs, the lesson would have traveled with me because it was mine to learn. Our lessons stay with us, even when we make major changes in our lives. What I do not work out here, I will work out over there. You cannot run from a problem or lesson because it stays with you. Store that in your mental decision-making function. Make sure you learn what is being taught so you do not take unnecessary baggage with you as you move on.

Predicate your decisions on moving "towards" something positive and not just "running away" from something uncomfortable. The problem is yours and the lesson is yours. The answer is always contained within the question – it is just not easy to identify sometimes. Why? We are looking at it from the inside of the problem. Location and people can change to accommodate any lesson, but the lesson continues until it is finished.

Life is willing to teach us. We are not always paying attention; even those of us who are trying to cooperate with the awakening process. Lessons are all around us. Your lessons are all around you. Life will continue to teach us, one experience after another until we either catch on that instruction is underway or we learn the inherent value to the lesson.

KUNDALINI YOGA

SOLAR PLEXUS

Chakras are energy vortices—spiraling wheels of energy in our body. When these centers flow freely, one is in harmony and alignment. However, if one of these becomes blocked or misaligned, we will experience physical, mental, and emotional stress. In yoga, we refer to seven main centers aligned from the tailbone to the crown in the astral counterpart of our physical body. The energy called kundalini resides waiting to be awakened in all of us at our lowest center, like a snake in three and a half coils. Meditation, prayer, yoga, and other practices increase the flow of these energy centers. All the positive qualities associated with each are our latent faculties.

The solar plexus chakra extends from the spine just above the navel, referred to in Sanskrit as manipur padma, meaning "shining gem," and is therefore yellow in color. As we balance this padma it will slowly turn to a golden color. When we embark on improving ourselves or awakening our divine gifts, chakras or padmas (lotuses) will begin to open. They are a gateway to our psychic gifts. They change our physical, astral, and causal bodies.

Our physical body is made up of five elements, nourished by food, and is therefore referred to as anamaya kosh. The astral body relates to our senses. There are five organs of action (known as karma indriyas), five organs of knowledge (known as jnana indriyas), five pranas, and four elements of antahkarana (the inner instrument). This antahkarana comprises the mind (manas), the intellect (buddhi), the subconscious (chitta), and the ego (ahamkara). So, in total 19 elements make up our astral body - the body used for feeling and sensing.

The causal body is the doorway to higher consciousness, or anandamaya kosh, the "bliss sheath." It needs peace and is the sole cause of the other bodies.

By awakening the kundalini and the various chakras, we have access to the three bodies. Each chakra relates to a part of our physical body and astral body. It is not just awakening the chakra but also changing our physical and emotional self.

Once we awaken kundalini energy, it begins to rise. All this is in stages and at varying intensities. Meditation, prayer, yoga, and other practices increase the flow of this energy. All the positive qualities associated with each chakra are our latent faculties. When all lotuses are fully awakened, we will be established in anandamaya kosh or the bliss sheath. We need to realize that the negative attributes are not really our true selves. They are superimposed through thoughts and experiences. The positive qualities belong to us, and we are worthy of developing them and need to take an active part in doing so.

The manipur chakra is the seat of the body's agni, or fire. This is why the chakra is the most important energy center for our physical well-being. When imbalanced, it destroys our energy, causing disturbances in our digestion, which may lead to diabetes, skin diseases, cardiovascular diseases, gout, arthritis, rheumatic diseases, many types of migraines, allergies, and many more.

There are two basic functions within the body - reception of energy (prana) and elimination of waste (apana). The energies of prana and apana meet at the manipur chakra. They represent the two basic functions of giving and taking, expansion and contraction, assimilation and elimination. Both forces should be able to function freely; disturbances or blockages lead to illness.

HIGHLIGHTS JULY 2026

An interesting month. Special planetary patterns (try saying that three times in a row) throughout the month. Mostly benign, an alignment in fire and air signs brings plenty of zest. The collective unconscious of humanity is shifting emphasis towards a more energic phase. Fire and Air, zooming with some vigor. A spark. The Spirit of the Lord is upon us.

Even though the background energy says "yes, yes, yes", there are several bumps and bruises along the path. Outer planets working in harmony with a few challenges. We can do this. Easy Peasy.

Jul 4: Mars conjunct Uranus, Mars sextile Neptune---Speaking of challenges, this is one of them. Mars/Uranus is loud and noisy. In the United States, this normally loud Independence Day is even louder and noisier than usual. Accident prone, careless, and an in-your-face attitude. An elephant in the china shop. Erratic. Machinery malfunctions and car accidents. Mars/Neptune has great rhythm; a let's go dancing in the moonlight feeling. An ethereal aspect, great for magic and magicians. But the day is ruled by Mars/Uranus and the chaos it brings in its' wake is amplified. In Tarot cards, the Tower. Best to be more deliberate in your actions, take extra time. Still your thoughts. A calm answer mitigates wrath.

Jul 5: Mars trine Pluto---Yesterday's potent energy is still in effect, but today you can use your energy in a constructive manner. You can do anything today. You have power and focus (Pluto) in tune with your activities (Mars). A good day to thoroughly (Pluto) clean up the mess from yesterday.

Jul 6: Sun square Saturn---Sun/Saturn work well together even with a square aspect. Success is delayed but guaranteed, stick with it. Not much humor, a nose to grindstone day. You don't mind working late and solo.

Jul 7: Neptune turns stationary retrograde---Outer planets stay in the same degree for weeks. Their energy is magnified; events happen. Neptune relates to floods and gas leaks if there is an accident. Neptune retro for six months ideally indicates a period when we incorporate more compassion and service in our daily lives, live it and breathe it.

Jul 9: Venus enters Virgo---Time for summer cleaning, a new paint job in the den, and we are busy. Watermelon season is here, bring on some veggies. An earthy quality for a few weeks, the fish are jumping into that fryer. Great for working on crafts. An active lifestyle with good food is best.

Jul 12: Mercury conjunct Sun---Always a crowd pleaser, these two dancing together usually brings out the thinking cap, the wheel is spinning and spinning. And that is one of the challenges. Mercury is in its' retrograde phase---maybe too much of a chatterbox, too many people talking at once, or overly concerned with minutia. The details get in the way instead of being in sync. Another "take your time day".

Jul 13: Venus square Uranus---We are saved, a quirky aspect. The unusual seems appealing, odd tastes for a day. Money flies out of your pocket. You want and want, not likely satisfied. A weird people day.

Jul 14: New Moon in Cancer---Sun, Moon, and retrograde Mercury in a tight pattern. A tribal feeling, family history is important. Retrograde Mercury seems out of place in this sentimental journey, a few kinks in the armor with earthly matters. Still dream big, don't be hassled when small details get tangled. A good time to fix and repair things around the home, you might need to do it anyway.

Jul 15, Jul 17, Jul 20, Jul 21: Uranus sextile Neptune, Uranus trine Pluto, Jupiter trine Neptune, Jupiter sextile Uranus, Jupiter opposite Pluto---The big boys, way out on the outer perimeter, in harmony (except a Jupiter/Pluto opposition). Jupiter joins the parade on the 20th and 21st. A Grand Alignment. Outer planetary patterns are generational, lasting years. You can use wide orbs (distances from exact degrees) with outer planets, these slow-moving patterns are "background energies" that are part of a process. The process might take a few years to "see" what and how this pattern manifests, easier to see in retrospect. It does seem like World Powers should be in accord. Fire and Air, a spark---an aura of "new energy", a breath of fresh air. Get up and go. Throw the map in the back seat, just get up and go.

LET US REVIEW SOME POSITIVE & NEGATIVE TRAITS OF THE OUTER PLANETS:

Jupiter: Positive uses include broadening of your horizons, a philosophical and spiritual attitude, and social, religious, or ethical activities. Negative uses include overpromoting me-ism, tooting your own horn. Poor judgement and lack of common sense.

Saturn: Positive uses are setting long-term goals, a serious and practical methodology, patience (not easy for most of us), realistic solutions. Negative uses are plentiful, Saturn is basically like it sounds, Saturn "sits on you". Fear and self-doubt, frustrations, and a plethora of distrustful thoughts.

Uranus: Positive influences include social catalysts for change. All for one, one for all. Sudden breakthroughs---inventions, flashes of insight and intuition. Negative use of Uranus creates havoc, extreme destructive behavior, generally a bad type of "social misfit". Volcanoes and tornados.

Neptune: Positive qualities are just beautiful---A refined and artistic hue, inspiration from Above, enlightenment, healing energy, Agape, contact with Angels, Akashic Records, emotional upliftment. The negative energies are subtle, not so easy to see. Self-deception, hyper-sensitivity (hearing voices), hidden psychological weaknesses, and over-idealism that have trouble with regular earthly things. Psychically vulnerable.

Pluto: Dwarf planet Pluto is powerful, one of its key words is power. Positive Pluto has strength of force, stamina, good psychological skills, and are skilled researchers and investigators. High-powered executives have a strong Pluto influence in their chart. Decisive and insightful. Negative Pluto can be a bad boy. One-tracked mind with obsessive qualities, using force to get their way. Manipulation and coercion. Subversive and Underworld activities, gangsters. Sledge-hammer approach. The upshot: the final analysis is broad in scope, but subtle. A cosmic shift, but one that doesn't have fireworks of drastic change. Outer planetary patterns aren't quite so personal. An alignment centered around 5` of just about any sign. Look for any planet or angle in your chart and see if you have anything near 5`. You can use wide orbs, anywhere from 0` to 10` of any sign will work. This is global in scope but might start as a whisper.

Jul 19: Mars sextile Saturn---Lost in the Grand Alignment shuffle, Mars and Saturn join forces in a united effort. Physical strength is indicated. Stamina, moving objects around, sweating, you get the picture---pumping iron or thinking you can. These two seem out of place, the big parade of planets is down the street. The "outlier" energy. Often, the "unaspected planets" take on the role of maverick, unfettered and free to be whatever is inherent to its nature. In this case, a good Mars/Saturn placement. Do something physical.

Jul 22: Sun enters Leo---Let the good times roll. Fun and games, yee-haw. The Dance of Life has some life. The theater, go out this month. Music, drama, and make a parade. Glam. An image of children playing in a playground.

Jul 23: Mercury stationary direct---Our favorite mischief maker is finally deciding to quit pricking everyone. While stationary for a day, a word of caution. Be more deliberate in your actions, slow down. Slow the "wheel" down, quit noodling so much.

Jul 24: Mercury sextile Venus, Neptune sextile Pluto---Mercury/Venus is an aesthetically pleasing aspect. Logic and proportion with perfectly coordinated colors. Arts and crafts day. Neptune and Pluto have been sextile (60`) for over 80 years. The conjunction was in 1892, once every 492 years. Harmony between distant planets, Neptune does seem to soften the more intense Pluto vibe. One can hope.

Jul 26: Saturn turns stationary retrograde---6 months of Saturn going backwards. The 2nd of the "Grand Parade" of planets to turn retrograde. Saturn lessons learned should have a more sanguine attitude to responsibility, better at using the wisdom of the ages, and at times patience to embrace the Wisdom of Delay.

Jul 27: Sun opposite Pluto, Sun trine Neptune, Sun sextile Uranus---Remember that parade of planets a week ago? Now the Sun decides to join. Sun/Pluto is heavy-handed. Control and power. Everyone has the upper hand. Powerful men and power plays. This is the strongest aspect and rules the day. Too bad, because a beautiful Sun/Neptune and Sun/Uranus aspect is overwhelmed with the strong Sun/Pluto oppo. If we are not stomped on by powerful people or circumstances, then art, music, and any metaphysical study (Neptune) along with that invention you just thought of (Uranus)---Presto---Use your energies wisely.

Jul 29: Venus square Mars, Sun conjunct Jupiter, Full Moon in Leo/Aquarius---Our last entry this month is a lulu. One loaded full moon. Intertwined through the day is a difficult Venus/Mars square, one of the most challenging aspects we experience. Very difficult, can be abusive. No one is getting along with others in the sandbox. With Venus being in Virgo, this implies trouble with the concept of "perfection", which in reality perfection is just an idea. Minutia becomes tangled. And then the full moon, a monster of passion and fire. Sun/Jupiter is glorious, supremely confident. Possibly the best solar aspect, this day has the "Shine". Social and Religious leaders can use this day for great things. There is a beautiful sextile to Uranus and a trine to Neptune. Innovation, technical advances and discovery (Uranus), mysticism and the Divine Impulse (Neptune) can happen. The ingredients are there for a spiritual experience. Unfortunately, this full moon also has the Moon conjunct Pluto. Things from the past coming back to test us again. Ancient tribal differences arising. Extreme sectarianism. Religious fervor, religious differences. Not the best day, Venus/Mars in a challenging duel, Full Moon energy with extremism, and enormous pride. All with great gusto. Use your energies wisely. These last few weeks have both talents and abilities on one side of the coin, while the other has extreme challenges.

3. "By this all men will know that you are my disciples, if you have correct theology."

Theology is tidy. Love is messy. Jesus chose the mess.

Because he knew something we keep forgetting: you can master doctrines and still miss the point. You can defend orthodoxy and still fail at humanity. You can win arguments and lose people.

Jesus didn't say the world would recognize his followers by their beliefs, creeds, or certainty. He pointed to love—real love, inconvenient love, boundary crossing love—as the only reliable evidence of spiritual maturity.

Theology can be memorized.

Love has to be lived.

And that's why Jesus chose the mess.

4. "If anyone would come after me, you must deny your individuality and humanity, and disparage all other religions and their followers."

Jesus never asked people to shrink.

He asked them to wake up.

The call was never to erase your identity, silence your intuition, or abandon your humanity. It was an invitation to shed the false selves imposed by fear, shame, and social conditioning so your truest self could emerge. And he never taught people to elevate themselves by diminishing others. His path wasn't about superiority—it was about expanding one's capacity to see the sacred in every person, every tradition, every corner of human experience.

Following Jesus wasn't meant to make people smaller.

It was meant to make them more alive.

5. "If you love me, you will regularly attend a conservative Christian church and vote Republican."

Whenever Jesus is conscripted into a political party, you can be sure the party is speaking—not Jesus.

He refused to be a mascot for empire or ideology. His message disrupted political loyalties rather than reinforcing them, calling people into a deeper allegiance that couldn't be captured by any platform. Jesus didn't endorse parties; he confronted systems that harmed people, no matter who ran them.

6. "Blessed are the tithers for they shall be called the children of God."

Jesus blessed the poor, not the donors.

He blessed the brokenhearted, not the budget.

He never tied divine favor to financial contribution; he tied it to compassion, justice, and solidarity. His concern was always the well being of people, not the preservation of institutional revenue streams. In his world, generosity flowed from love, not obligation—and it certainly wasn't a ticket to spiritual status.

7. "Thy kingdom come, thy will be done in Heaven, after the earth and all its life forms go up in flames and is destroyed."

Jesus' vision was profoundly this worldly: healing bodies, restoring communities, feeding people, confronting injustice.

He never preached escapism disguised as eschatology. His hope was about transforming life here, not abandoning it. The kingdom he spoke of was a present reality breaking in through acts of compassion, courage, and justice—not a future evacuation plan for the religiously approved.

8. "You have heard it said, 'Love your neighbor,' which means the people with whom you attend church and relate to in your Christian sub culture."

Jesus kept expanding the circle until there was no "outside" left.

His definition of "neighbor" shattered tribal boundaries and religious comfort zones. He insisted that love must reach the very people we'd rather avoid, challenge, or dismiss. For him, love wasn't a reward for similarity—it was a commitment to the shared humanity of all.

OUR MIND

Mokshapriya Shakti

In the astral body, the negative attributes are: lack of self-control, fear-based emotions, a lack of personal power, underdeveloped mental clarity, and underdeveloped reasoning. Blindly following others rather than our own truth, intolerant of others, and a lack of personal power.

Positive attributes are taking back our personal power, control of our emotional/desire body, clarity of thought, being tolerant and patient with others, and learning to radiate love energy.

The goal of working with the third chakra is to align your ego will with the Will of your Higher Self. The desires of Spirit/Higher Self gradually replace the ego-desires. We begin to turn inward for nurturing, a sense of love, self-worth, and validation, rather than seeking them from a source outside ourselves. We begin to allow Spirit to guide us toward the most beneficial outcome for all.

We become observers rather than instigators or reactors. We know that there is a higher purpose in everything that happens, that you are not being punished or judged, but are given an opportunity to attain balance and harmony through the situations that arise in your everyday life. We begin the process of evolving from an "I" or separateness focus to "WE" or UNITY consciousness.

We are moving out of our instinctual nature and into our intuitive/Soul nature, whereby our solar plexus becomes a Power Center of Energy once more. In the old way, we allowed others to tap into our emotional body through energy cords plugged into our solar plexus. This resulted in allowing others to control us, disempower us, and drain us emotionally. We have also tapped into other people's energy the same way.

The questions to ask when working with this chakra are: Have I lost control of my emotions? Have I felt powerless in some situations? Or powerful in others, and what was the reason? Have I reacted more to other people's emotional needs than to my own? Have I tapped into someone's energy cords, or has someone tapped into mine?

Since we are all different and meditate differently, we can choose which chakra quality we want to meditate on. Ma Yoga Shakti had an artist create chakra plates based on how she saw them, as illustrated in her book The Invisible Seven Psychic Lotuses.

The third chakra has 10 petals. The red color represents the fire element, and the beej mantra is RAM. The riding animal is a ram. By meditating on any of the qualities or studying the picture, one begins to activate the lotus.

When working with the individual chakras, we need to work with each for at least three months. We can remind ourselves by wearing something red. As we are working with this chakra, our energy should increase. We may have a more intuitive understanding of our environment. We may have a clearer mental outlook. Most importantly, we accept the changes and allow ourselves to improve. We are so programmed to self-sabotage that after a few days, we see no result and quit. We cannot change the lifetimes of conditioning in even three months of work. We climb the ladder one step at a time.

The solar plexus chakra is one of the most important one to work with to reestablish our self-worth. It is also the link between the lower and the higher chakras. It is our second brain; this is where we receive intuitive knowledge from our higher self or "gut feeling."

Some yogic techniques to activate the manipur padma are: agnisar dhauti (pressing the naval many times towards the spinal cord quickly while holding the breath out), bandas, yoga twists, and breathing exercises especially bhastrika kumbhak.

"Opening your chakras and allowing cosmic energies to flow through your body will ultimately refresh your spirit and empower your life." Barbara Marciniak

Sharron Britton

When you want to go deeper in your work with spheres, I recommend creating a grid. When the energy of the spheres you select combine, a magical synergy emerges.

Spiral grid of crystal spheres

I am going to bring out my spheres when I get home to make a spiral grid to help harmonize the parts of our human experience that feel ripped asunder. I can pick up one of my old friends and gaze into it for a long and peaceful meditation. This inspires me to remember why I am continuing on this path even when it seems impossible.

You can make your grids with any sphere that calls you. Use any template you like - a pentagram, a circle, a diamond. Call in your guides, ancestral spirits and angels. Envision all the elements of the earth in harmony. Emerge refreshed and inspired.

Many blessings and much love to all,

Sharron

HOROSCOPES JULY 2026

ARIES – (March 19 – April 18)

Under the influence of Saturn and Neptune at home, you unsettle others with your more calm and composed behavior. However, this month your household requires your attention: tensions will be palpable, so get involved without losing yourself. Your morale will be high, you will be quick to act with anticipation: dare to! The love sphere seems protected: you have the tools of a lover in your hands! Mars and Uranus provide enough intellectual ingenuity for you to act with tact and a good dose of pure creativity, while Pluto facilitates a project or social circle: believe in what makes your heart sing! After the 23rd, the Sun and Jupiter in Leo illuminate your playful or creative life: what do you want to prove to others?

LOVE IN GENERAL

From the 1st to the 9th, Venus and Mars in a good aspect help you experience lovely emotional moments. You will have a brave heart and a highly communicative libido! After the 10th, your feelings become a bit shy, your emotional expression will be full of care: you will show much more than usual what touches you in another person.

IN A RELATIONSHIP

Your duo will feel close, happy, and playful until the 9th. Your communication may be delicate all month, avoid touchy subjects. After the 10th, there will be no shortage of signs of love, but they will be understated. Why not open your partner's eyes?

SINGLE

Real chances to make a nice encounter are coming up throughout the month, but the one you will remember for a long time could happen as early as the 23rd. Get out, especially frequent festive and cultural places and be ready!

CAREER / FINANCE

A financial increase is possible after the 9th, as well as unexpected help to facilitate your work under the dynamic and creative influence of Uranus in Gemini. Saturn and Neptune give your character enough foresight and seriousness to demonstrate to your superiors or your banker that they can trust you.

ADVICE

Calm down the horses at your home, which is shaping up to be a bit wild, and this month should bring you some lovely moments with your partner or friends. Seize the day!

TAURUS – (April 19 – May 19)

The focus of the month will be on relationships and financial matters! The energies in Cancer, the sun until the 22nd, and Mercury all month favor your social, friendly, and close relationships: you are popular, you are loved! Mars and Uranus together give your financial sphere the urge to expand, increase your assets, perhaps your main source of income, with enthusiasm and even with a taste for risk. The planets in Leo, especially after the 23rd, force you to address family, home, or real estate issues: you will have the resources and diplomacy to act and infuse your optimism. The professional sector demands your impeccable commitment where setbacks are on the horizon, especially for the 1st decan: be flawless and defuse any ambush in advance!

LOVE IN GENERAL

Tensions and jealousy crises are possible at least until the 9th, so trust others a little more or love may slip away from you. However, after the 10th, your feelings calm down, and your libido, although still possessive, learns to be light, and your love life seems more harmonious. Phew!

IN A RELATIONSHIP

Some tensions within your relationship are not excluded, especially if you continue to stand your ground. Will your demanding sensuality be enough to satisfy your partner? Wait until the 9th to find a peaceful and truly reciprocal complicity.

SINGLE

Your sentimental quest occupies your thoughts and your chances of meeting your soulmate present themselves to you throughout the month and accelerate from the 23rd: Mercury could facilitate your relationships and your self-confidence. Step out of your comfort zone!

CAREER / FINANCE

Hang on a bit to the branches, as the wind might blow strong in your professional sector! Indeed, radical questioning or through very ambitious colleagues: your serenity will only be achieved at the price of real inner peace. Your assets seem stable, or even subject to an increase!

HOROSCOPES JULY 2026

ADVICE

Challenges await you around the corner in your monthly journey; your calm and grounded character will help you sail through them effortlessly.

GEMINI – (May 20 – June 19)

Determined and ready to increase your possessions, you could multiply the bold actions this month! With Mars and Uranus in your sign, your behavior gains an incredible capacity for renewal, so make the most of it! The Sun and Mercury in Cancer bring a spirit of financial conquest until the 22nd, your ambition will be clear! The social sector looks very promising, and your life ideal is slowly but surely taking shape under the transformative effects of Pluto in a positive aspect to your sign. Jupiter in Leo and in harmony with the Sun from the 23rd could facilitate a move, close relationships, and support your morale brilliantly. Love is in the air here and there from the 1st to the 8th, then becomes more demanding for the rest of the month. After the 23rd, Mercury could bring good news: financial, perhaps?

LOVE IN GENERAL

Mars and Uranus drive your emotional behavior with such passion and creativity that you will need to be careful not to scare others! You will be magnetic, but try to court with tact rather than impatience harmful. Your feelings will be sometimes warm, sometimes more constructive, but a bit shy: adjust!

IN A RELATIONSHIP

Until the 8th, your agreement will be total, sensuality and passion should create a very pleasant atmosphere for you. After the 9th, your feelings evolve towards a hint of demand that you will have difficulty expressing to your partner: stay cool!

SINGLE

The heavens are spoiling you with opportunities to meet people, especially in your day-to-day life. A new neighbor perhaps? Your super dynamic and incredibly magnetic personality throughout the month should help you charm easily, know what you want.

CAREER / FINANCE

The energies in Cancer boost your professional ambition, good news might come as early as March 23rd. Mars and Uranus infuse enough vitality and creativity into your behavior to appeal to a potential hierarchy, but make sure it is well received or disappointments are likely. Those who want to play the angel end up playing the devil!

ADVICE

This month looks full of promises, but act while staying connected to others, intimate or not, as your electric dynamism might not be pleasing to everyone, especially the first decan.

CANCER – (June 20 – July 21)

This summery month looks promising for your personal prestige as well as an increase in your wealth. The energies around you, the sun until the 22nd, and Mercury all month long highlight your aura and your way of communicating with sensitivity. Venus and Jupiter together until the 8th make it easier to receive a professional bonus, your sense of values will be updated! The professional sector will require your loyalty and genuine involvement, or else you may face hierarchical issues. Your dynamism may work a bit behind the scenes unless you have a caring soul. However, Mars, in conjunction with Uranus, appears more creative than blocked: you will have a lot of action-packed desires, but it will be good to be patient. Pluto may favor a financial return, 1st decan. After the 23rd, the sun enters Leo, and your sensuality sharpens.

LOVE IN GENERAL

Your emotional expression will be highly sensual until the 8th, you will feel like touching the other with your hands or with your words. However, your libido will be less facilitated, you will need a great complicity to open up. After the 9th, your heart loosens up and opens up to the unexpected!

HOROSCOPES JULE 2026

IN A RELATIONSHIP
The complicity and deep affection will unite you with your partner throughout the first week. Dare to show your need for intimacy, they can't read your mind all the time! After the 9th, your feelings flow easily and you embody them perfectly.

SINGLE
You will have many desires, but they will be hard to fulfill because your enigmatic behavior can destabilize your potential conquests and place you in a position of seeking, which diminishes your charm. However, your effortless romantic expression starting on the 9th will facilitate a meeting. Keep an eye out!

CAREER / FINANCE
This sector is promising! Indeed, Pluto, the banker of the zodiac, has settled in to favor the monetary windfall coming from others: a notary, a banker, a lawyer? Your work will not be easy, conserve your energy, as much will be demanded of you: soon to be on holiday?

ADVICE
A lovely month ahead, especially if you are willing to accept some constraints at work. Be patient before taking action, look beyond these few weeks, the time will come for you to assert yourself more.

LEO – (July 22 – August 21)
Between introspection and opportunity, you are moving forward confidently and supported this month. Then, Venus moves into Virgo on the 9th: your professional sector softens, and some colleagues may lend a hand, or your social skills could work wonders. The end of the month looks towards the future - stay positive!

IN A RELATIONSHIP
One month under high tension indeed! March and Uranus facing you ignite the flames of discord more than the flames of passion: calm the situation before the 8th or a trench war will be inevitable!

Mars and Uranus in Leo boost your professional drive as well as your daily life, surprises are possible. ABRAHAM HICKS

Esther Hicks

But once you follow it a little bit, you'll find that it is... and it'll lead... and it'll lead... and it'll lead... and it'll lead... and then you'll discover that the whole point of all of it is the path, the path, the path.

You're not going anywhere. You're not ever gonna get it done. You're not ever gonna get it done. You're Eternal. So, it's only about the path.

So, when you say, "I can't find the path. I can't find clarity." We say, "That's big. That's a big deal."

That's like saying, "I'm lost in my Beingness."

We say, "You don't have to be lost. Just chill out a little bit and let the path light up, and enjoy it when you step on it.

What's the value of play over work if you hate your job and can't wait to get out of there?

I like ai for summarizing info but it has to be info I'm completely familiar with so I can catch discrepancies and errors.

Basically I do it to share something I think's important while saving typing and voice. I especially like how they summarize the Abraham-Hicks work. I asked:

QUESTION: What does Abraham-Hicks say about the value of play over work if you don't like your job?

CHATGPT SUMMARY REPLY:

Abraham-Hicks on Play vs. Work. Here's the straight answer. Abraham-Hicks doesn't glorify "work" for the sake of work.

They teach that your emotional state matters more than your action. If you hate your job, grinding through it while feeling resentful, drained, or trapped is not aligned action.

THEIR CORE IDEAS AROUND THIS:

1. Your emotional guidance system comes first

If your job feels heavy and play feels expansive, they would say that's feedback.

Joy, curiosity, and play mean you're in alignment.

Frustration and dread mean you're pushing against your own energy.

2. Play raises your vibration

Play isn't laziness in their framework. It's alignment. When you're playful, relaxed, and having fun:

* You think more clearly

* You see opportunities

* You attract better circumstances

They often say: "Get happy first — then take action." Not the other way around.

3. Don't quit in resentment — pivot in alignment

Abraham-Hicks wouldn't usually advise storming out of a job in anger.

They would say:

 Use the job as contrast (it clarifies what you don't want)

 Get into alignment outside of work (through play, appreciation, hobbies)

... from page 42...

Esther Hicks

 Then new paths will feel obvious and easier

IN OTHER WORDS:

Play is not an escape. It's preparation.

4. Satisfaction is the real currency

Abraham teaches that satisfaction is the point of life — not productivity.

If play gives you satisfaction and work doesn't, they'd say you're meant to move toward what satisfies you.

But here's where I'm (ChatGPT) going to add something grounded:

Play is powerful — but bills still exist.

The smart move isn't "ignore work and just play."

The smart move is:

* Raise your emotional baseline through play

* Build clarity about what you'd rather do

* Transition strategically instead of emotionally
If you hate your job, that's useful data.

But don't romanticize play without building a bridge.

HERB CORNER

What most people like about the herb Gymnema is that after you have tasted it, it blocks the taste of sweets this can help curb your cravings of sweets and carbohydrates.

Fenugreek has also been used for a long time and is well documented.

Studies found this herb to reduce blood sugar and cholesterol which seems to be a problem for many diabetics.

It was also found to significantly drop blood glucose levels protecting the body from free radical damage associated with diabetes.

Fenugreek's unique compounds surround fats and sugars slowing down their absorption making it great for weight reduction (this may be of help for many diabetics who are having trouble losing weight) plus it contains amino acids stimulate production of insulin.

THERE ARE OTHER HERBS THAT CAN BE OF BENEFIT TO DIABETICS

Cinnamon helps lower blood sugar levels and cholesterol plus it helps to stimulate metabolism.

Devils Claw helps decrease blood sugar levels helping curb sugar and carbohydrate cravings.

Sandalwood helps to rejuvenate insulin production.

The sulfur in Onions and Garlic have insulin-like actions and they help to protect the circulatory system.

Finally, Stevia helps control blood glucose levels reducing glucagon plus it can be used as an artificial sweetener with no calories, no carbs and no sugar.

9. "In my Father's house there are many rooms, but twice as many in his Hell Hotel of eternal conscious torment."

Fear is a powerful tool for controlling people. Jesus used love instead.

He didn't motivate through terror or threats; he invited through belonging, dignity, and transformation. His message wasn't about scaring people into heaven but awakening them to the sacredness of their own lives. Fear shrinks the soul; love expands it—and Jesus always chose expansion.

10. "A woman must obey and submit to the authority of men because God is male and his kingdom is a patriarchy."

Jesus consistently dismantled patriarchal norms—teaching women, elevating them, defending them, learning from them.

He never once demanded their subservience. His movement expanded women's agency rather than restricting it, making space for their voices in a culture that tried to silence them. If anything, Jesus treated women as full participants in the spiritual revolution he was igniting.

11. "You will know the truth and the truth will make you superior to all the simpletons who never learned Greek and Hebrew."

Truth, for Jesus, was not an academic credential. It was a way of living that set people free.

He didn't equate spiritual maturity with intellectual elitism but with humility, compassion, and integrity. Knowledge wasn't the goal—transformation was. The truth he spoke of wasn't something you mastered; it was something that reshaped you.

12. "The answer is prayer because only divine intervention can effect change because of how inadequate and powerless you are."

Jesus empowered people. He didn't infantilize them.

Prayer, for him, wasn't an escape from responsibility but a grounding for courageous action. He called people to participate in healing and justice, not wait passively for rescue. His message affirmed human agency, creativity, and responsibility—not helplessness.

13. "Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you a checklist of do's and don'ts."

The Jesus of legalism is always a projection of those who fear freedom.

Jesus offered rest, not requirements; liberation, not a longer to do list. His invitation was to reclaim one's humanity, not to submit to a new set of religious performance metrics. He didn't burden people with rules—he lifted the burdens they already carried.

14. "I am the bread of life... but if you adopt any spiritual teachings from other sources, you will starve and be damned."

Jesus never policed wisdom. He recognized it wherever it appeared. He wasn't threatened by truth outside his tradition; he honored it. His posture was expansive, not defensive—rooted in curiosity, not control. He trusted people to discern, explore, and grow, not to confine themselves to a single sanctioned source.

15. "He appeared to his disciples over 40 days and spoke about how to incorporate his life and teaching as a 501(c)3 and build megachurches in his name."

Institutional Christianity often looks like the thing Jesus came to liberate people from. He didn't leave behind a business model—he left behind a way of life. And ever since, institutions have been trying to domesticate that way of life into something manageable, profitable, and predictable. Jesus wasn't building an organization; he was igniting a movement of human transformation.

SO WHAT DO WE DO WITH ALL THIS?

If Jesus didn't say these things, why do so many people believe he did?

Because institutions need predictability.

Systems need compliance.

Gatekeepers need authority.

And fear is an efficient way to secure all three.

But the Jesus who walked dusty roads, touched untouchable people, confronted empire, and dismantled religious gatekeeping was not manageable. He was not safe. He was not predictable. He was not a mascot for any institution.

He was a human being awakening other human beings to their own dignity, agency, and belonging.

He didn't come to start a religion.

He came to start a revolution of humanity.

A revolution where:

- compassion outranks doctrine

- liberation outranks loyalty

- curiosity outranks certainty

- and love outranks fear

This is the Jesus who still matters—not because he fits neatly into our theological systems, but because he keeps slipping out of them.

If the Jesus you inherited feels small, punitive, tribal, or weaponized, it's not because you're broken. It's because the version you were handed was.

There is a deeper, freer, more human Jesus beneath the noise—one who doesn't demand your submission but invites your awakening.

And maybe that's the real reason so many people tried to silence him.

Not because he was dangerous to God. But because he was dangerous to the systems that claimed to speak for God.

Jim Palmer

THOUGHTS ABOUT THINGS

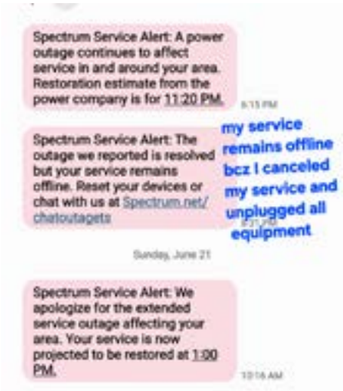
"I want to look back on my life and be giddy with joy that I was the one who got to live it.

GOODBYE SPECTRUM, HELLO WIRE3

Wire3 came out and installed their fiber optic system and I cancelled Spectrum to save $50/mo. Just in time also bcz the entire weekend during the rains Spectrum kept sending texts saying when they expected service to be restored. I never lost internet or wifi.



People are so funny. I packed up my modem and router to return to the Spectrum store, glanced at the website, saw their location had changed, saw their hours and went in.

There was a sign in kiosk and people waiting. 5 people's names were on the tv for "who's next in line who does NOT have appointments." I see I should have made an appointment, my bad.

Then a man about my age comes in with his equipment and goes right to a counter and says "I want to return my equipment" and they said "you have to sign in." He said "I just want to return my equipment" and they said "you have to sign in or make an appointment" and he gets furious and grabs all his packages and storms out saying "THIS is why I'm leaving."

So he and I both went there without appointments to return equipment. Neither of us knew to make an appointment. Two totally different reactions to the same situation.

Sure, I wasn't happy with Spectrum but that had nothing to do with the salespeople in the store.

THE GARDENING BUG HAS FINALLY HIT ME.

I'd been procrastinating. PROCRASTINATING just means I've just not yet lined up your energy on that topic. WHEN I FEEL ENTHUSIASM to do something it means I've lined up the energy and I'm being inspired from that point of alignment. When I line up the energy, the feeling of procrastination goes away.

HOW DO I LINE UP THE ENERGY? I stay focused on the fun of the goal. I make a daily request to the Universe to fill me with enthusiasm and inspiration, to guide me to joyful ways to be creative and find meaning and have plenty of dollars flow in.

Last week I went to look for the flower and vegetable seeds I knew I'd stored from 2021. They weren't where I initially thought they were and I thought I searched the pantry pretty well. Then I realized I may be looking for something that DOESN'T LOOK LIKE WHAT I THINK I'm looking for. I went to the pantry with the idea to remove everything off the shelves until I could see the wall, starting with the lowest shelf which is all my pasta and rice noodles. Sure enough, in the clear plastic shoe box behind the rice noodles were my seeds in a smaller package than I thought they'd be in.

A good reminder that what I'm looking for won't always appear in a form I've come to expect. That works for a lot of life situations and I wonder how many opportunities I've missed because I was looking for something else specifically.

I used to have a lot of in person interaction with people everyday, every week for work and for play. 50 years until 2020. One reason I like reality shows is it gives me a chance to relate emotionally to other personalities without being face to face. Watching Chopped, it gives me a chance to let my judgments arise so I can work on them.

I noticed when a contestant has a big ego, always talking about themselves, their accomplishments, I immediately want them to lose and for the others to cut them down to size. Wtaf?

I'm confident but I don't advertise my accomplishments or name drop or have certificates on the wall or display pics of me with celebrities or famous authors.
So my takeaway is I'm starting to have more compassion for the ones who think they need to hand a bio sheet to everyone at first meeting instead of getting to know them for themselves. As far as MY bio? That was Then, This is Now. What have I done lately?

To provide a forum to connect those who seek purpose in life. To use our combined power to encourage each other in our personal visions.

To remind you that you are far more powerful than you can imagine.

To establish in the minds of our readers the reality of the mind / body connection and the fact that we participate in creation of the reality we experience.

What we see and experience is simply the brain's interpretation of electrical signals. The only reality we cope with is the world of perceptions inside our mind.

We participate in creation of the reality we experience by our intentions, beliefs and expectations, by every thought we think and every word we speak. Because we participate in this creation, we have access to as much happiness and supply as we can discipline ourselves to focus on.

To promote the reality that we survive in consciousness after the change called death. To comprehend this, we promote the practice of daily separation of consciousness from the body via meditation.

Once we experience our existence beyond physical circumstances, the fear of death is removed. The less fear of death we have, the more we see the world from the higher perspective and the more we recognize how powerful we really are. This frees us to begin to live more fully, in every moment, truly in the Now.

Our lives become increasingly fulfilling as we take responsibility for how we perceive life and how we react to it. We're here to find and relate to others, and everyone who reads these words or writes a word in these pages seeks to be connected with those who seek likewise.

So, if you read an article that touches you or an ad that intrigues you, call and get together with the person listed; or just call and introduce yourself and discuss the ir offering with them.

Connect with each other, come to know each other, exchange information. We believe that as we all work together, we are making the world a better place.

Established in 1992, Horizons Magazine is designed to inspire, educate and entertain those who are exploring the body/mind connection and seeking spiritual solutions to everyday life.
